MacCracken, Brittin Get 10-Day Jail Term For Senate Contempt

Two Prominent Aviation Men Now Held in Hotel Room—Will Be a Test Case—Brittin May Start Sentence at Once.

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—A showdown on the Senate's right to jail two prominent aviation men for contempt was expected today.

No sooner had the Senate adjourned than William P. MacCracken, president of Northwest Airways, and L. H. Brittin, vice president of Northwest Airways, were taken to the Senate wing of the hotel where they were held for contempt.

They were sentenced to the Department of Columbia jail on charges of treating too lightly a subpoena of the Senate air mail investigating committee. The sentence was for ten days but both were ordered held.

Harris M. Henshaw and Gilbert L. Brittin, president and representative of Western Air Express, were also held for contempt.

All four were placed on trial before the Senate bar on charges of removing air mail correspondence from MacCracken's law office.

Both Frank Hogan, counsel for MacCracken, and Seth Richardson, attorney for Brittin, set their first goal as the freeing of their clients from their hotel jail, but both indicated appeals would be pushed against the ten-day sentences.

In fact the Senate appeared not adverse to a test in the federal courts.

Both men voted guilty took the sentence of the Senate.

MacCracken, sitting in the well of the chamber, did not move when the announcement came that he had been voted guilty.

Brittin sat with folded arms, but gave a slight grin and allowed his foot to twitch as the vote against him was made known.

Accompanied by Cressley Jurney, Senate sergeant at arms, the two were taken quickly to the same hotel in which Jurney and MacCracken already had spent two nights together.

Analysis of the Senate votes showed that all of the 20 who voted "not guilty" on MacCracken were Republicans. Nine Republicans, 54 Democrats and the one Farmer-Labor member voted "guilty."

Brittin Ready Report.

Washington, Feb. 12 (AP)—L. H. Brittin, vice-president of Northwest Airways, was said today by his attorney to plan to begin serving immediately the 10-day jail sentence imposed by the Senate for contempt in its air mail investigation.

When asked William P. MacCracken, former assistant secretary of commerce who also was sentenced to ten days, planned to take was not made known.

Brittin was represented as being tired of the contest and, although still believing himself innocent, preferred to serve the sentence and end the matter instead of appealing to the courts.

Bernard Charged With Manslaughter

Arrested Following Discharge From Hospital, Driver of Coupe in Fatal Accident Is Held in $1,500 Bail.

Solomon Bernard, 23, of Monticomey, owner and driver of the Chevrolet coupe that was wrecked Sunday morning, the accident resulting in the death of two girls, was discharged from the Veterans Memorial Hospital at Ellenville Wednesday.

He was arrested by Sergeant Hopkins following his discharge and arraignment before Justice Melvin D. Schoonmaker, who held him under $1,500 bail for appearance before the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter.

Bernard's companion, Ernest Cockack, of Walden, is still in the hospital. He is suffering from a paralysis of the left arm, being able to move slightly the fingers of the left hand.

Benza Freed Here, Taken to Catskill

Anthony Benza, 21, of New York city, arrested on January 21, on a charge of reckless driving following a collision between the truck he was driving and the auto of Harvey Kolls on the Rondout Creek Bridge, was discharged for lack of prosecution when the case came up for a hearing before Judge Chilton in police court today.

Benza was brought to Kingston from Catskill this morning where he was serving a jail sentence for a traffic violation. According to the police Benza was driving a stolen truck at the time he had the collision with the Kolls car.

Following Benza's discharge in police court here he was taken back to Catskill where the sheriff of Greene county holds a warrant issued in New Jersey charging Benza with the theft of a truck.

Wicks Bill Extending State Emergency Relief Approved

Governor Signs Measure Sponsored By Senator Arthur H. Wicks, Extending Life of State Emergency Relief Administration For Another Year—Other Bills Signed Today By Chief Executive.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP)—Governor Lehman today signed three bills extending for another year the emergency powers of the state over banks and insurance companies.

At the same time he approved a bill continuing the Mastick commission for the revision of tax laws until February 15, 1935.

Under another bill, sponsored by Senator Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, the life of the State Emergency Relief Administration was extended for another year.

The bill, which was introduced by Senator George R. Fearon of Syracuse, introduced in the state Senate on Wednesday a bill calling for a statewide 2 per cent sales tax. A similar bill was introduced in the Assembly by Assemblyman Jerry Wadsworth. The bill provides that 90 per cent of the tax is to be given back to each locality on a per capita basis.

How the tax would operate is shown by the fact that under the provisions of the bill Kingston would receive $8 per capita, which, on an estimated population of 30,000, would mean $240,000 returned to the city. In villages such as Saugerties, New Paltz and Ellenville the per capita return would be $6. A village with an estimated population of 5,000 would receive back $18,000 from the state. The towns of the county would get $5 per capita while school districts would receive $17 per capita.

It is estimated that within a 10-year period that most of the villages and cities would be able to operate on a cash basis. For instance New York city under the terms of the bill would receive $55,000,000 a year.

The money received by each locality is to be used for the amortization of debts and interest, such as the payment of outstanding bonds. When there is no bond issue to be used to reduce the tax on real estate.

The sales tax would be levied upon all things sold and consumed by the public and also for personal services.

Louis M. Hermance Dead at Ulster Park

Engaged in Advertising Business in Poughkeepsie About 35 Years Ago—Funeral Services Will Be Privately Held.

Louis M. Hermance died at his home in Ulster Park on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Hermance last December underwent an operation for appendicitis and had returned home. He appeared to be on the road to recovery when he had a relapse which resulted fatally. He had been a resident of Ulster Park for the past 15 years and was engaged in the home-improving business in Poughkeepsie where he had been a resident for 20 years. About 35 years ago Mr. Hermance entered the advertising business in Poughkeepsie with an office in the Poughkeepsie Courier building, and became interested in what were known as "real estate" and "home-improvement" of half-lot later in the development of half-lot. He read and studied every book he could on the subject and soon became widely known as a photo-engraver, and was the only one engaged in that business between New York and Albany, and of late years maintained an office at 25 Main street in Poughkeepsie. Mr. Hermance for the past 15 years resided on his fine four-acre Ulster Park, and was held in high esteem by all who knew him for a proved a good neighbor and friend. While living in Poughkeepsie he attended the St. Paul Episcopal Church, and in late years the Reformed Church at Ulster Park. Mr. Hermance was a member of the Park Grange No. 933. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Hermance, and two daughters, Mrs. Wagoner Hermance, one son, H. Louis Hermance at home, and a daughter, Mrs. Earl Tremblay of Ulster Park, and two granddaughters, Earl and Robert Tremblay. Funeral services will be held privately with interment in the Poughkeepsie Rural cemetery.

Exchange "Romber" Filed

New York, Feb. 12 (AP)—Eugene S. Danelli, Jr., Boston lawyer and Harvard graduate, was fined $500 today with the alternative of thirty days in House Prison for the first time in his life for the New York Stock Exchange last summer.

Two Thousand Socialists Surrendered in a Group Today, While Government Leader in Steyr Is Surrounded—Another Court Martial Today—British Policy Is Hands-off.

Vienna, Feb. 12 (AP)—The Socialist rebellion against the government; Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss collapsed in the capital today but the Socialists continued to fight in the provinces where, in some localities, they appeared to be worsting the government troops.

Two thousand Socialists surrendered in a group at Laaberger on the southern outskirts of Vienna but Prince Ernest von Starhemberg, second vice chancellor of Austria and leader of the Fascist Heimwehr, was reported surrounded with his men in Steyr.

Government troops were dispatched from Vienna in an attempt to cut through machine gun nests which ringed him.

The Viennese sector of the civil war was definitely in the hands of the government after the Goethehof, a giant Socialist apartment building, surrendered to superior forces.

Government troops, which had shelled the building with artillery when a wicked machine gun fire drove off their repeated attacks, marched to find the Goethe Hof prison was only women and children.

All through the Socialist section marched the "mopping up" squads of government troops. Wearing steel helmets and with bayonets fixed to their rifles, they operated systematically, moving slowly through the section like the pieces on a chess board, cleaning up desultory opposition square by square.

The majority of the men who previously had fought from the windows of the Goethe Hof, retreated across the ice of surrounding canals and fled to the countryside where, it was assumed, they sought to join their more successful brothers-in-arms.

It was indicated that the government will try to move through the villages where Socialists are still fighting in the same mopping up process that is being carried on in Vienna—then concentrate its armed forces for a campaign against Linz, where Socialists apparently are in control.

The drive against Steyr probably will be preliminary to the campaign in Linz.

The surrender of the Socialists at Laaberger was the first response to Chancellor Dollfuss' offer of amnesty to all opponents who should lay down their arms by noon today.

Another to The Gallows

Vienna, Feb. 12 (AP)—Another Socialist—Robert Kalat—was sentenced to death by court martial today.

He is the third to be condemned to the gallows since the outbreak of civil war.

Karl Muenichheiter, a 45-year-old shoemaker, was executed last yesterday.

George Weissel, chief of the Floridsdorf fire department, was put to death shortly after last midnight.

British Hands-off Policy

London, Feb. 12 (AP)—Sir John Simon, British foreign secretary, indicated to the House of Commons today that Great Britain would continue to pursue its hands-off policy in connection with the present internal troubles in Austria.

New York Prior Detailed.

Rouses Point, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP)—The locomotive and express car of a New York-Montreal sleeper of the Delaware and Hudson railroad was derailed on a curve at 6:25 a. m. today just north of here over the border in Lacolle, Que. No one was hurt and there was only slight delay in traffic.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Miller of East Kingston, a daughter, Lorraine Anne, at Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Parker of 1724 Downs street, a son, Wayne Douglas.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press
One Way of Remembering
 Candler, Miss—Little Oklahoma. Other Fleming has arrived to bless the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Fleming. Montana Lou, Kansas Cyclone, Pontiac Chief and Virginia Pantera, brothers and sisters.

The Flemings have moved around quite a bit, and preserved the memories of their favorite states and cities to names for their children.

Knew What He Didn't Want.
 Naples, Italy.—Luigi Rocco, who died here at the age of 105, was particularly well known because he worked until he was 100 and de-tested spaghetti. Like his great-grandfather, his grandfather and his father, he pursued the career of a notary public. He never drank, never smoked, and ate sparingly.

Not Safe For Police.
 Oak Lawn, Ill.—This village may be in the market for a good lock to put on the jail to keep out bank robbers.

Six men invaded the jail, stole the police force—one policeman named Arthur Eichler—and used him as a shield in an unsuccessful attempt to hold up the Oak Lawn Trust & Savings Bank, which was frustrated when the cashier set off some tear gas.

The policeman was overcome by gas.

Good Buy.
 Goderich, Ont.—The entire contents of a 20-room hotel sold for $92.45 at a public sale to satisfy municipal taxes. The furnishings included show cases, cash register, lounge chairs which went for $10. Parlor contents brought a like amount while bedroom contents brought $2 to $4.

Rock-a-Bye.
 Milan, Italy.—Mussolini's orders to the Italian people to increase the birth rate prompted fruit-growers to display their products in cradles at the annual winter exposition here. Ninety-two different models of rustic manufacture were on display, laden with apples, oranges, pears and other fruits that abound in Italy during the winter.

Frogs Croak, Then "Croak."
 San Francisco.—Mrs. Paul Stenche's colony of pet frogs "Croaked," she told police sadly, presumably because they croaked.

She said she found them dead among the lilacs in her backyard pond after neighbors had telephoned threateningly, complaining the nocturnal conversation of the amphibians was not conducive to slumber.

Less Majesty.
 Portland, Ore.—It would require much effrontery for this thief—if caught—to appeal to the governor for executive clemency. The thief in question stole three motor robes from Governor Julius L. Meier's unlocked automobile parked in a tire lot.

Why, Officers?
 Fort Scott, Kas.—Although Officers Townsend and Reese rode comfortably to a call in the police motor car, they returned to the station on foot. Selecting the proper blank from the sergeant's desk, they reported the theft of the police car.

DEATHS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press.)
Mrs. Mary Archer Ale.
 New York.—Mrs. Mary Archer Ale, 74, wife of Robert J. Ale, former president of the University of Maine and president emeritus of Butler University, Indianapolis, Ind.

Boyer Gonzales.
 Galveston, Tex.—Boyer Gonzales, 57, Texas artist, who was noted for his marine paintings.

Thomas Costello.
 Los Angeles.—Thomas Costello, 72, well known operator on the Chicago board of trade in the early 30's.

Tom Dennison.
 San Diego, Cal.—Tom Dennison, 75, veteran Omaha, Neb., political leader.

Virgil Moore.
 Kansas City.—Virgil Moore, 68, known as a grain market "moon man" because he used the positions of the moon and planets to predict prices.

Lieut. Gen. Jiro Tamon.
 Tokyo.—Lieut. Gen. Jiro Tamon, former commander of the famous Second Division, the first Japanese unit to fight in the Manchurian campaign.

New Palitz Fire.
 New Palitz, Feb. 15.—Tuesday morning, February 13, the fire company was called to the home of A. Andrader on Church street. An overheated stove pipe running to upstairs rooms set fire to the floor. The blaze was soon extinguished and but little damage was done.

Republican Meeting Downtown.
 There will be a meeting of the Downtown Republican Club tonight at 8 o'clock at which time returns will be made for the recent card party which was a success socially and financially.

YOUR INCOME TAX

Limitation On Stock Losses
 Certain new provisions are contained in the Revenue Act of 1932 under the above-mentioned heading limiting the deduction for losses sustained on the sale or exchange of stocks and bonds which are not capital assets—that is, which have not been held for a period of more than one year. In accordance with the limitation, such losses may be deducted only against gains from similar transactions for the year. It is also to be noted that such loss may not be offset against capital gains.

The above-mentioned limitations is in general applicable to both corporations and individuals as well as other taxpayers. By the terms of the statute, however, the limitation does not apply to dealers in securities as to stocks and bonds acquired for resale to customers or to banks or trust companies, incorporated under the laws of the United States or of any State or Territory.

In defining "stocks and bonds" for the purpose of such limitation the statute specifically excludes therefrom bonds issued by a government or political subdivision thereof. Such exclusion not only includes bonds issued by the Government of the United States or a State or political subdivision thereof but also includes bonds issued by a foreign country or foreign municipality. It therefore follows that the deduction for losses sustained on the sale or exchange of such bonds is not subject to such limitation.

Articles of Exchange
 At the very earliest time of which there is record, and in remote places in later times, the principal article of export, by common consent and practice, was used as a third element or medium of exchange. Then anyone having articles of commerce for exchange would first exchange them for the article used as a medium of exchange for the article desired. Almost every stable article of commerce has at one time or another been used as such medium of exchange; as cattle in ancient Greece, Rome and other countries; iron in Rome and other ancient and some medieval countries; and, until quite recently, in Japan; tobacco in the colony of Virginia; wheat and other grains in many agricultural states; lead and tin at times, and copper, silver, and gold almost universally from ancient time to the present day. Iron bars are still used in trading with the natives in Central Africa.

"Why doesn't everybody buy the new Pontiac?"

The other day, in the deepest sincerity, an owner said to us—"Why doesn't everybody buy the new Pontiac?"

Do you know what prompted this question?

This owner had simply learned what we have known since we built this car, namely——that if everybody were completely familiar with the advantages of owning the new Pontiac, almost everybody would want it.

Suppose, briefly, that everybody knew——that Pontiac is really a big car, with a wheelbase of 117 inches, and a Fisher body that is most generously roomy—

—that Pontiac has a big, smooth, powerful straight eight engine—really the equal, in every way, of the very finest power plants—

—that Pontiac has "Knee-Action" wheels as developed by General Motors, which are far different from the independent springing devices offered on other cars in the field—

—that Pontiac has big, smooth, powerful Bendix mechanical brakes—excelled by any brakes for safety and ease of action—

—that Pontiac is a product of the General Motors Corporation—the foremost automotive organization in the world—

—that Pontiac is really almost as economical, both to buy and to operate, as any car you can name . . . including even those that are designed primarily for economy—

—that not more than three or four stock cars in America can pass a Pontiac on the road—

—and finally, that Pontiac is one of the two most beautiful cars in the world . . . absolutely regardless of cost!

Yes—if everybody actually knew these things—we believe that just about everybody would want a new Pontiac.

If we're right in this assumption—you want a Pontiac—for you've read the facts here, for yourself. Are we right?

Then come in. We will be delighted to prove to you the full truth of every single statement made in this message.

Memorial
In sad and loving memory of Mamie Joy Squires, who departed from this life February 15, 1934. Just a thought of sweet remembrance. Just a memory fond and true. Just a token of affection. And a heart still aches for you. Just a high for the golden moments. And just a smile for you. (Signed) MRS. MARTIN O'BRIEN, Sister, 50 Murray street.

LONGER SKIRTS IS LATEST PARIS HINT

Ankle-length in Prediction for Spring Gown.

Here says that it's a good hint to put your eyes on your skirt if you want to be the first to catch a change in the spring mode. He thinks that even by midwinter there will be a change. "Little by little," he says, "they are getting longer. The cocktail dress is responsible, but even sport skirts are adding an inch or so." Our prediction is that by this time next year all dresses for day and street wear—with the exception of the purely sport clothes, will be the same length, and that this length will be to the "ankle."

Well, what do you think? Or maybe you'd rather not even think about it at all. If this is true, you have company. Personally it seems hardly probable—that is, among women who insist upon a bit of common sense along with their fashions. Too long now we have enjoyed the comfort and practicality of the medium length skirt, and it is dubious if the modern woman of fashion will ever again submit to a clutter of cloth around her ankles any time except in the evening when the fabrics are light and billowy or, if velvet or brocade, sufficiently wide to permit freedom of movement. Some will, of course, but the majority—no.

ORCHIDS AND FRINGE

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

In high fashion is this lovely wedding array for late in the spring or summer. Two features are outstanding—the long hand-drawn fringe which trims the classically simple mounded-to-the-form white satin gown and the white orchids together with lilies of the valley which the bride carries. The vogue for fringe is most pronounced this season, which is why a knowing designer has glorified this wedding gown with just the proper amount of fringe to add infinite grace to the picture. Not only are the more fashionable and discriminating brides choosing white orchids and lilies of the valley for their bouquets, but these flowers are the favorite kind as table decoration for the wedding supper.

STYLE NOTES

Plaid tailored suit is foreword for spring.
"First" hats interpret off-the-face movement.
Waterproof tweed velvet is shown for travel and daytime wear.
There is a persistence of wrinkles and crinkles in fabrics.
Printed frock with monotone coat is predicted for spring.
Flare below waistline is feature of spring jacket suit.
Prints and pleats is popular slogan for spring.

Huge Muffs Are Carried

With Fur-Trimmed Frocks
On the basis that removable accessories, worn in sets, are the last word in accessories this season, it is easy to see how attractively they can be set off on a dress of the tunic type. Along with the campaign for "warmth in fashion" that Paris is supporting, this hybrid in woolen dresses seems the perfect thing when worn with one of the new, enormous muffs of ultra style. It also may have removable fur trim of its own and go simple or important.

Snug-Fitting Gloves Are Latest Edict of Fashion

The day of loose-fitting gloves is definitely past. New woolen, velvet, fourteen and corduroy gloves have made or place kid palms to prevent any stretching or sagging. When leather palms are not used in silk or satin gloves the palms are reinforced with latex or some kind of elastic.
Gloves will fit much more securely around the wrist, the new wrist straps ensuring snugness as well as adding a decorative note.

BLOND GODDESS

A New Social by Elizabeth Johnson

SYNOPSIS: Frank Graham, a young man, is in love with a girl named Juanita. He is a very handsome young man, and she is a very beautiful girl. They are both very young, and they are both very in love with each other. They are both very young, and they are both very in love with each other.

Chapter 11
 ESCAPE PLAN

FRANK scanned the message quickly, a new hope rising tumultuously in his breast. He glanced at his companion. In a low voice he read the note aloud, translating roughly in English.

"Get this Graham," Very estimable sir, and my friend: the talk within the city is that you and another man and a lady are to be married to Yum-Chac at the pyramid top tomorrow in the morning. It is with little hope I write you, but I have secured the extra pistol and some cartridges from our packs which were in the ship's dwelling place.

"I did not go to the coast, for which please excuse me. I followed you to the small ruin where you slept. I watched you go into the city and return with the other man and the beautiful lady."

"I heard the young rascal. Thought it was a lizard." There was a tightness in his throat, as he chuckled at Juan's naive compliment to Juanita's beauty.

"He says also, 'I saw these sub-vapor capture you. Because me for being of no help. I hope to come into the city and make effective your release later. This I cannot do as your prison is very well guarded.'"

"There is an aeroplane in the central plaza. There are boxes of gasoline nearby. This knowledge may be of use to you."

"After you read this, throw the stone out to me and I will lie to it two pistols. Juan Piedra."

"Who's Juan Piedra?" asked Graham.

Frank's voice was soft. "A very courageous and loyal young man. A Mexican lad who came with me from the coast."

There was a moisture in Frank's eyes as he tossed the stone through the window opening.

"It's a chance in a thousand," he commented as he drew the card, heavy with the pistols through the bars. "Thank God for Juan. . . . the young idiot. Perhaps, tomorrow, we may make a break and shoot our way to the ship."

"If we could do that, and stand them off long enough to get the bus and warm the engine, we might get away. Langton's message on the wall said his landing was okay, so the crate's in good shape anyway. What luck that there's gas. They probably brought it from Merida. Wonder if it's high test?"

Graham asked, "Was this Juan the ace you had 'up your sleeve' when you threatened Ortega that you'd get him if he didn't get Juan out of this?"

Frank shook his head. "Sorry if I raised your hopes on that one. I was bluffing. I just had some idea that I might send a message and send it out like Billy Langton did. But as soon as I said it I knew it would be practically impossible. Even if I got hold of a bottle and could seal it, chances would all be against any 'sender' sending it as they did Billy's."

He talked swiftly, formulating a plan after plan, discarding some as too hopelessly impractical, accepting others as secondary ones, in case the break for the airplane was impossible.

"BEST talk it all over," he said, "so we can act upon whatever seems best at the time. At the very worst we die. Get that guy Ortega, Greene, if it's the last thing you do."

"Don't worry," replied Greene. "I'd like to interfere with that skin bumbo too."

"Here . . . see if you can lift me up to the window." Hope gave him strength that had not been his when he attempted to climb that afternoon. Clinging to the bars with his sound arm, he called softly.

"Senor!" Juan's voice came from under the window.

"Is the airplane guarded?"

"No, senor."

"Do you think you could go there and pour one or two cases into the tank? You will find the tank-cap in the hood just back of the engine. Put two or three more cases in the cockpit as far back as you can."

"I will try, senor."

Tomorrow, Juan swung his arms with Griggs.

THE sound of many feet padding in the corridor, and the clanking of metal, woke Graham. His shoulder hurt him, but he felt at the bandaging with a glow of satisfaction—for concealment within the rough

Graham had hidden the other in his waistband under the shirt. When his coat was buttoned, Graham believed that it would not be detected. Sooner or later they could expect to have their clothes torn from them, but that again, depended upon what they made of their own.

A few minutes later Graham had his first sight of Juanita since the fight of the previous day. The corridor was packed with guards, and her white helmet showed above the heads of the natives.

They were small men, these jungle people. Graham eyed them scientifically, as a boxer studies his prospective opponent. They were pushed toward Juanita; evidently the party was to be reunited for the final scene.

Graham stared at the girl suddenly. It would be horrible if she had been mistreated, but as her glance met his his tensed muscles relaxed with relief.

Her face was pale, but composed. About the eyes were traces of fatigue, but the eyes themselves seemed to glow with calm courage.

The American permitted himself a wayward thought of admiration and of compliment, as he faced her. It was unbelievable, but typically feminine, that she could be so coolly self-possessed.

Her skin was clean and fresh as if she had recently bathed; the collar that framed her throat thrust over the top of her trim khaki coat was spotlessly white. Even the beads that lined her calves, gleamed dully as if polished. She appeared as though she were about to step out into the sun for a morning's sport.

Her face was pale, but composed. About the eyes were traces of fatigue, but the eyes themselves seemed to glow with calm courage.

The American permitted himself a wayward thought of admiration and of compliment, as he faced her. It was unbelievable, but typically feminine, that she could be so coolly self-possessed.

Her skin was clean and fresh as if she had recently bathed; the collar that framed her throat thrust over the top of her trim khaki coat was spotlessly white. Even the beads that lined her calves, gleamed dully as if polished. She appeared as though she were about to step out into the sun for a morning's sport.

Tomorrow, Juan swung his arms with Griggs.

THE sound of many feet padding in the corridor, and the clanking of metal, woke Graham. His shoulder hurt him, but he felt at the bandaging with a glow of satisfaction—for concealment within the rough

Graham had hidden the other in his waistband under the shirt. When his coat was buttoned, Graham believed that it would not be detected. Sooner or later they could expect to have their clothes torn from them, but that again, depended upon what they made of their own.

A few minutes later Graham had his first sight of Juanita since the fight of the previous day. The corridor was packed with guards, and her white helmet showed above the heads of the natives.

They were small men, these jungle people. Graham eyed them scientifically, as a boxer studies his prospective opponent. They were pushed toward Juanita; evidently the party was to be reunited for the final scene.

Graham stared at the girl suddenly. It would be horrible if she had been mistreated, but as her glance met his his tensed muscles relaxed with relief.

Essay Contest for High School Pupils

An essay contest, open to all high school students in Ulster county, is being sponsored by the Kingston Co-operative Savings and Loan Association of this city. All students interested in participating in this contest are requested to send their name and address by mail or apply in person to the Savings and Loan office at 293 Wall street before February 21. Data on the subject of the essay will be given next applicant, as well as the rules governing the contest. There will be 15 prizes awarded the contestants, picked by impartial judges.

All high school students in Ulster county are asked to signify their intention of entering the contest at their earliest possible convenience.

Talks to Parents

Values Consciousness

By BROOKE PETERS CHURCH

In this day of talkies and radio the human voice is at last being understood and the world is slowly but surely finding out its importance.

An old woman who sprang from the sea flower of gentility used to say to her granddaughters when they raised their voices in altercation, "A soft voice is a woman's duty."

The training of the voice must come in childhood if it is to have any real or lasting value.

No parent can say what his child may become or wish to become in after life. He may choose the ministry, law, the stage, or may be an excellent after-dinner speaker.

One thing is certain, that unless he is born dumb he will want to use his voice. And, however much or little this use will amount to, the best early preparation for any walk of life, any profession, is a well-modulated speaking voice.

Such may be learned by imitation. The baby and little child who hears street and well pitched voices about him will echo the sounds as he grows and probably develop a pleasant voice quite unconsciously.

The real burden falls on the parents, who from some fault in their early environment have not been blessed with good voices. They must learn their own faults and consciously train the child not to acquire them. In doing this they may well correct some of their own shortcomings.

In any event, the world is becoming voice-conscious, and teachers and parents who are in daily and hourly touch with the rising generation should realize that the responsibility of training the speaking tones of the future lies at their door.

Stomach, Gas

A DISEASE which starts with indigestion, gassy, sour stomach, dizzy spells or general lassitude may be helped by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Thin blood and a run-down system also respond quickly. Mr. A. E. Soule of St. Louis, Mo., says: "A few years ago my stomach was so bad I could not eat a bit of food. I would become bloated with gas, never felt like eating, and there were days that I felt like dead. I was nervous and sleepless. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it certainly straightened me up in great shape. It drove away the stomach complaint entirely. I slept fine at night and felt 100% in every way."

Hi-Y Club Heard Speech on Lincoln

The Kingston Senior Hi-Y Club held its regular weekly meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday evening with H. M. Flemming, prominent Kingston attorney and former president of the board of education as its featured guest and speaker. The meeting was preceded by the usual good supper prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. and served by a committee from the club. After the supper, the boys had a period of recreation on the gym floor and in the "Y" pool.

The club's business session began with a brief period of worship, conducted by Donald Clark. He used the theme, "Men Ought Always to Pray," taken from the Lenten leaflet. The fellowship of prayer. A report of the deputation committee was given by Elberton Hasbrouck and Lawrence Van Etten, chairman of the program committee, made an announcement of the programs for the next several meetings. The athletic committee also announced that the club's basketball league would begin its season on February 22. There are four teams in the league captained by Ed Fitzgerald, Fuller and Whiston. Several fellows also signed their intention of attending the Central Hudson Hi-Y conference to be held at Middletown on February 22. Previous to the business session, Roger Eastman, coach leader of the club, led the boys in singing "Allouette" which was done in spirited fashion. The principal feature of the meeting was the address by Mr. Flemming. His message was really one about leadership, based upon the life and character of Abraham Lincoln. The speaker showed very clearly that the greatness of such men as Washington and Lincoln was due to their integrity of character and their unselfish service. They served their country, not for what they could get out of it, but for the service they could render. He then appealed to the boys to make this same ideal theirs.

Now air mail contracts are up in the air, because profits have been flying too high.

OUR DAILY PATTERNS

A Most Attractive Day Dress
8110. Black satin was chosen for this attractive model with white crepe for collar and tie. Slim lines and broad shoulders are featured here, and a new sleeve. The skirt portions are cut with bodice sections, effecting a raised waistline, both youthful and becoming. Velvet, crepe, or the new rough weaves in silk or in cotton may also be used for this style.

Designed in 5 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 38 requires 2 1/2 yards of 54 inch material, together with 1/2 yard of 39 inch contrasting for collar and tie.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Roast Pork Supper.
The men of the Lyonsville Reformed Church will serve a roast pork supper on the evening of Washington's Birthday. Proceeds are for the benefit of the church.

A Washington Daybook

By HERBERT PLUMMER

WASHINGTON—Now that Sen. Hiram Johnson has the honor of being the Roosevelt administration for another term to the senate, it is time to look at the other two other progressive Republicans who come up for reelection this year.

Will Bronson, Cutting of New Mexico and "Young Boss" La Follette of Wisconsin, both of whom support the Roosevelt administration in 1932—be accorded like recognition?

James A. Farley, chairman of the democratic national committee, says "not now."

Politicians are agreed generally that Cutting and La Follette will receive some measure of support from the administration in their attempt to return to the senate for another six years, but how openly will depend on conditions back home.

From the administration's point of view, the Johnson situation was made to order.

Political Precursor

THE statement of Representative McGrath, a democrat from former President Hoover's own campaign, urging California democrats to support Johnson prepared the way for the stand taken by Farley.

The California senator's own statement some three weeks before congress was convened that the country must go through with the Roosevelt program or it was "going to sell economically" had its effect too.

This far La Follette and Cutting enjoy no such advantage. There has been no move openly among the democrats of Wisconsin and New Mexico in their behalf as in California for Johnson.

Were the democrats of Wisconsin and New Mexico to insist that candidates of their own choosing be put in the field against La Follette and Cutting, the national party organization might be influenced to use the soft pedal.

Undoubtedly it would be somewhat embarrassing for the administration to urge the return of these two senators over candidates of its own party.

Inviting The Liberals

THE profile of the hand of fellowship to Johnson, however, apparently could be taken as the first move of the administration politically toward a goal long believed to have been set by Mr. Roosevelt—annexation of the so-called liberal wing of the republican party.

Support of Johnson appears an open move to change, permanently, the political balance of the country.

Spring Fashions Arrive With a New Bag of Tricks

New York—Duplicating a successful dress is encouraged by the better class dressmakers. If that is, it's your own dress that you are having copied. It has long been a trick of the French to buy one very lovely model and have it repeated in different fabrics and with different details. And you can't say it isn't a thrifty trick.

In a recent collection of imports reviewed recently, a model was shown in a print, and duplicated in a monotone fabric. It was impossible at first to realize that the lines and handling were the same in both instances. In this collection not only were the prints and monotones used in this way, but a model would be shown in silk and one identical with it otherwise, in wool. It's an idea any woman can use to advantage, particularly the woman who sews from a pattern.

We show you today an attractive model the blouse section of which was made of a very effective scarf. So many spring frocks are being made with contrasting sleeves that it seems a feasible idea to use scarfs for this purpose. Why? Because one may find so many unusual ones brilliantly patterned, for instance, with borders that may be used with excellent effect.

We have all come to recognize the practical, as well as the style value of dresses that change their appearance in some subtle way, an adjustment of the neckline, a trick of fastening—something of the sort.

It's pleasant to be able to report that designers have made things easier for us by making trimming details, particularly those of a washable nature, detachable. That this is done frankly and with no thought of concealment is worth noting. Buttons are the usual assist, collars button on; cuffs button on; capes, plaques, anything that may be added or subtracted according to one's daily mood. Don't forget that the button counter is the rendezvous of the smartest women just now. And as if you will find all manner of things besides buttons, but always something to pinch hit for them. Clips, frogs, hooks and eyes, things like that.

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild.

This dress has a navy and white hand-blocked scarf for the bodice, while the skirt is in navy silk crepe. A spring-like touch is introduced at the neckline, in a shallow edge of white embroidered batiste.

The New Mainbocher Hats Offer Silhouette Variety

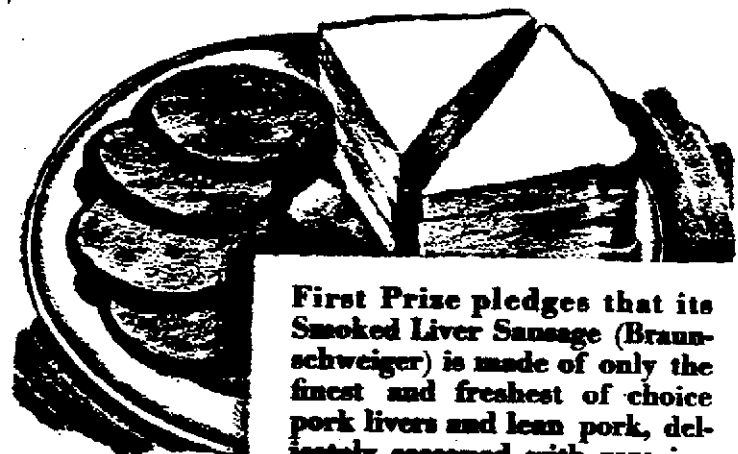

Copyright, 1934, by Fairchild.

The sports hat at upper left is of soft green felt, with a peaked edge of felt around the base of the crown, and embroidered arrow-heads leading the fold that swirls across the top and down on the right side of the crown.

Below it is one of the wide, shallow, conical, typical of Mainbocher done for next spring in a white palladium of medium crepe, with a navy garter striped in blue and white, for the crown band.

The third hat is one of the babyish off-the-face shapes which are a feature of the collection. The crown is a fuzzy brushed one, quite firm, in navy. The ribbon which passes around the crown at right is white program embroidered in dark blue.

GRAND UNION

At The Theatres

Today.

Kingston: "Fugitive Lovers." Life in a cross country bus turns out to be pretty much excitement and romance in this story with Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans together again after a movie separation of several pictures. The show goes to Mr. Montgomery almost completely, and his fans will never find him to better advantage than in the suave, dashing role handed him in this talkie Ted Healy and Nat Pendleton are also members of the cast. A different kind of plot plus a good cast is the reason why this show is worth seeing.

Orpheum: "My Weakness." Lillian Harvey from England dances and smiles her way through her first American talkie, a rather dream-like affair that concerns a young waster whose income is cut off by his uncle. Low Agnes, Charles Butterworth, Henry Travers and Harry Langdon featured in important assignments, as well as a host of pretty girls. There is a mixture of grand comedy headed by Charles Butterworth and Harry Langdon, some exceptional songs and dance routines, and Miss Harvey and Mr. Ayres seem to be a romantic and enjoyable co-starring team.

Broadway: "Mert and Marge" and "Golden West." The two radio personalities known as Mert and Marge to an endearing public, go through their patter before the camera in the first offering on the program. Songs, dances, Ted Healy and Eddie Foy are added reasons for what success the show possesses. There are places where the comedy of these radio favorites is laughable and enjoyable to witness. "Golden West" is a Zane Grey western drama, therefore good. George O'Brien plays the role of three different people during the course of the film, so he is almost too busy to act. The show is filled with action and entertainment value.

Tomorrow.

Kingston: Same.
Orpheum: Same.
Broadway: "Vaudeville" and "Lone Cowboy." Jackie Cooper, supported by Lila Lee, John Wray and Addison Richards enact the famous story from the pen of the author-artist, Will James. Young Jackie Cooper plays the part of an orphan who is shipped west to his dead father's best friend. The friend is in the dumps because his wife is fond of running around with other gentlemen. Everything is straightened out when Jackie arrives. Four acts of vaudeville complete the program.

The Pencilmaker

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER
"Now we've had enough of quarrelling!" shouted Willy Nilly above the angry voices of the others. "None of you is a very good sport if he can't stand a bit of a joke once in a while."

But they were still jabbering. "I know you sent me that one," Christopher told Top Notch. "You're jealous of my discoveries."

"You had no business to send me the one you did," crowed Top Notch. "Valentines should be pretty and sweet."

"Too bad you didn't think of that before!" cawed Christopher. "I'm not a gossip," Mrs. Quacko was saying. But at last Willy Nilly quieted them, and they all sat down to a fine meal he had prepared.

"Now," he said, "as soon as I clear up this place I am going to use the adhesive tape I have and fasten back my sticking-out ears."

Willy Nilly set to work at once, and then he cleaned the pantry which was in great disorder.

When he came back into the room Christopher was about to leave in a terrific hurry.

"Why are you in such a rush, Christopher?" Willy Nilly asked. "Oh, I'm not," cawed Christopher, in a jerky tone of voice. "I just thought—I just thought—well, I do."

Christopher's friends were all laughing at him. "You're a funny one," they said. "You're a funny one," they said. "You're a funny one," they said.

Melvin A. Traylor Is Dead of Pneumonia

keep its interests intact without involving the Washington government was one of the puzzles which the conferees faced.

Traylor solved this by evolving the "two classes" of the trust agreement under which the bank was chartered under Swiss law. This gave the central bank of any interested nation the right to halt any "Bif" operations which were inimical to the country's interests. The right was voluntary and the Federal Reserve bank could, if it wished, ignore any request for an opinion, thus keeping this country clear of strictly European finance.

A Mountaineer in Youth

This international atmosphere was a far cry from the log cabin in the limestone hills of Adair county, Ky., where Traylor was born October 21, 1878, the eldest of seven children of James Milton and Kitty Harvey Traylor. The senior of this flock said he could not remember when he did not have to work. At six he stood on a soap box and dried dishes and when the next youngster was old enough to do the wiping, Melvin was promoted to washer.

For from three to five months a year he had schooling in another log building and when he was 15 he achieved the equivalent of a sixth grade education. Two years of saving gave him enough to pay for a brief high school course in Columbia, the county seat, and then he passed an examination for a teacher's license. For two years he expounded the three R's in Leatherwood Creek, getting $150 a year and working as a farm hand between terms.

Nights he studied law. When 21 he went to Hillsboro, Tex., got a job as a clerk and delivery boy in a grocery, joined the volunteer fire company so as to get a free place to sleep and finally won admission to the bar. Four years of practice included a term as assistant county attorney, then he turned to banking.

SHE TALKED IN HER SLEEP

By COSMO HAMILTON

PALLION caught his breath. The crucial words of the telephone message were—"Hospital, Bar Harbor. Come at once."

A quiet even voice. "Yes. Your wife has been brought in. A motor accident. Inevitable at present—concussion of the brain. We telephoned at once. Her name was on her bag and I knew that you were at North-east Harbor because I saw you there. I regret to say that Mr. Cardonald is a very critical state."

A cloud of white dust followed Pallion down the road. "Hospital—come at once—your wife..." In the incessant reiteration of these six ghastly words Cardonald found no place. Cardonald... critical state? Why drag that in? What earthly connection was there between Judy and this man? For the whole of that month he had been, it was true, at the bathing pool every day, but it was noticed that he had behaved himself very well for once. He had made no dead set at any particular girl but had spread his undoubted charm and pleasantry out thin.

To the dinner at his cottage every one had gone, and although he had danced many times with Judy many of the other girls had been his partners too. It was true that Judy had selected him as the butt for her chaff and made use of him as the carrier of her things. Wherever she went there was always such a man who was only too glad to be appointed to the job. With a frank acceptance of beauty which she acknowledged as a somewhat doubtful joy—it carried obligations and requirements which were often a bore—it amused her on dull days or after exercise to play the classic part. With it went, of course, the usual small rewards—the lingering hand-clasp, the sudden tender look, all merely traditional with the beauty role. Several times during his year of marriage Tom had seen these things. They had been openly performed and jokingly discussed. Honesty was Judy's middle name.

Imagination having preceded the hard-pushed car Tom parked it a little distance from the building, into which he rushed. He was shown into a room about which he moved in zig-zags in order that he might dodge the figure of fear. He was no moral coward, but the girl upstairs was the wife with whom he considered himself to be still on his honeymoon. What was a year in a rapidly passing life?

The doctor held out his hand. "She's still unconscious," he said. "But I've known cases of concussion where unconsciousness has run into several days and sometimes longer than that. There are no limbs broken and I can find no signs of internal injury—a miracle to me."

"Is there any...?"
"Hope? Yes, yes, of course. She's young and in splendid condition. We must take great care, that's all."
The doctor's face was a blur. It was as though Tom saw it through a window wet with rain.

"But of course we must keep her, until definite convalescence, absolutely ignorant, somehow, of the tragic end of her... friend."
"What friend?"
"Cardonald. He's dead."

In the tidal wave of reaction from the terror of Judy's death, Cardonald's made only a dent in Tom's mind. Thank God for that good word hope.

"When can I see her?" he asked.
"How long will she be here? Will she be married, do you think?"
Cardonald dead? I'm sorry. But I don't quite see... I mean, did my wife collide with his car or did he smash up here?"

"The doctor cleared his throat. 'Sooner or later you must know the facts,' he said, 'and as usual it falls to me to disclose unpleasant things.'"

"I was careful to use no stronger word than that."
"I don't understand," said Tom.
"Your wife and Cardonald were in the same car, sir. I can tell you precisely what happened because I have it from the man who brought them in. He saw your wife and Cardonald leave his yacht together, with luggage; land, enter the car and with Cardonald driving turns up to the road."

"Coming off the yacht?" But Judy had said that she was going into Bar Harbor to dine and sleep at her aunt's. "Oh, I see. Mrs. Miller was on the yacht..."

"No. They were alone. As they were turning the corner a wildly driven car passed a touring bus on the wrong side and there was a head-on crash. I must tell you something more. The brother of one of my nurses is the captain of The Swallow and she was on the yacht. She saw your wife having dinner with Cardonald last night."

Tom looked up quickly and met the doctor's eyes. He was sorry. He remembered intensely this second suggestion. Cardonald meant nothing to her. "Why not?" he demanded bluntly. "There were other people on board."

"The crew, yes. Otherwise, as I told you, they were alone."

A nurse came into the room. "Mrs. Pallion's condition's changed a little," she said. "There is a quicker pulse."
"Oh? Then I must go up." The doctor went to the door. "I'll let you see the patient for a minute or two," he said. "Will you follow me?"

Feeling as though there were something red hot in his heart Tom followed with dragging feet. White walls; a white staircase with no carpet; Spartan simplicity and cleanliness; a lofty room with two windows; Judy, the lively and lovely Judy, still and deathlike on a white narrow bed.

"Oh, my God," said Tom.
"She spoke your name just now," said the doctor quietly. "Delirium—quite usual—talking in what is, you know, a sort of enforced sleep. She'll probably do so again. Take this chair, but you are not to touch the patient or raise your voice. I'm satisfied with the condition so far. It follows the normal course." He said something to the nurse beneath his breath. He went out, walking softly, and shut the door.

Tom sat, bending forward, holding on to his wrist.

The nurse did not know how to describe his expression except in medical terms. "Acute pain in the heart." She stood at the end of the bed, white, calm, steady, inwardly moved by more than her vocational sympathy for suffering human beings. Whatever the frailty of the patient her life must be preserved.

There was no movement of her body, no flicker of her long lashes, when Judy spoke again. It was a whisper, a clear even whisper, without any changes of inflection; a sort of chant. "It's very nice here, Cardy. Such a wonderful view!"

In an immediate panic, Tom got to his feet. "I must get out," he said.

"Already? Why?"
"It's too frightfully unfair to stay and listen in—to take advantage of her illness."

The nurse put her hand on his arm. "Never mind ethics," she said. "I must strongly advise you to stay. You love this girl, I can see, and whatever she did you will forgive. You will never ask her to tell you the story of last night and she won't ever say anything against a man who's dead. It may be your fault in some way and this may be your chance..."

The whisper came again and there was the faint suggestion of laughter in it which curdled Tom's blood.

"This yacht, your cottage, that amazing apartment in New York are rather dazzling, Cardy, I don't mind telling you. Then, too, you're a very good looking person and you do things well. They all make for fascination upon the average silly girl. Say what you like, the world is silly, because these brief passionate interludes mean almost nothing to you. You go from one to another without the slightest hurt. Oh, one knows all these stories. They're all flying about. But having dashed into this adventure without any thought and not being, to be brutally frank, in the least bit in love, I see now—I'm sorry, Cardy—that a silly fool I am..."

No, no. Eloquence won't work and you're requested not to touch the exhibits, or words to that effect. I hate to turn out a sportsman, having gone so far, but you're going to treat me as though I were a wise old woman, a rather ugly aunt. Really, Cardy, that's true. We'll dine, and smoke, and talk, and listen to the gramophone, say good-night fairly early, meet again for breakfast—scrambled eggs for me—and then you'll drive me back. I apologize for misleading you and thank you in advance, as they say in business letters, for your charming consideration which I greatly appreciate..."

I never knew until this moment, Cardy, how deeply I love Tom."

The chant continued for a moment but was too faint to understand.

The doctor came into the room. "That's all for today," he said.
Tom rose, bent over Judy and kissed her on the lips. He left on her cheeks something so grateful that it glistened like dew.

New Zealand's Doors Are Cause of River Flooding

New Zealand's door past has become so great that the animals are blamed for the flooding of the Waimakariri river, which has caused heavy damage in parts of the country where no door are seen. The River Trust, which controls the Waimakariri river watershed near Christchurch, has decided to stamp out the deer in the forests of the watershed. The animals have eaten vegetation until there is practically none to hold back melting snows or heavy rains, and the water rushes down the river in floods. Other attempts to eliminate the pests have resulted in the killing of thousands of deer, but farmers still report heavy damage to crops by the animals.

Uruguay East of U. S.

Uruguay, where the Pan-American economic conference convened, is the smallest of the South American republics, being roughly about the size of Ohio and Indiana combined. Geographically, it is situated farther east than the United States, being due south of Newfoundland. Uruguay was first discovered in 1516 by the Spaniards, but despite early efforts at colonization was not settled by Europeans until 1824. It passed through much warfare, both internal and external, but finally emerged as an independent republic in 1828. Its resources are largely agricultural, sheep, cattle and horses being raised extensively, while wheat, corn and flax are also extensively raised. The capital, Montevideo, was established in 1726.

Business Girls Celebrate Birthday

On Wednesday evening, the Business and Professional Girls of the Y. W. C. A. celebrated their tenth birthday at their usual Wednesday night supper and also heard a very inspiring talk by Miss Hester Marsh.

In honor of the occasion, the tables were prettily decorated with special lights and there was an individual birthday cake with tiny candies at each place. Ice cream and cake were the birthday dessert and appreciated accordingly. There was singing, too.

The announcements made after Miss Bryant, the president, welcomed the girls to the tenth anniversary of the formation of the club, were as follows: Miss Tyler called attention to the party to be given at her home, No. 75 Brewster street on Friday evening of this week. A small charge will be made to swell the fund for the coming conference to be held March 17 and 18. Games of various sorts will be played.

Miss Mary Howard announced that the speaker at the supper next week will be the Rev. Mr. Brown, pastor of the Warren Street Baptist Church. Miss Bryant called attention to the fact that there were present, five of the seven past presidents, each of whom was asked to rise and be greeted. Miss Ensey was also present at the formation of the club and Miss Marsh had been with them at the beginning of their club supper to give them an inspirational talk. In fact her talks before the founding of the Y. W. C. A. had had much to do in inspiring those who were engaged in creating the Y. W. C. A.

Miss Marsh was then presented and said that she had been very happy to be with them all before and knew she would be as happy whenever it was her privilege to be with them again. On the previous occasion of the birthday which they were all celebrating, Miss Marsh wished them all a happy birthday.

Miss Marsh had three things she wished to bring before those present on the occasion of their celebration of their birthday. First, what was back of the birthday, second, what will the birthday with its background accomplish, third, what is to be hoped for in the years to come?

Long life and prosperity are the usual objectives of birthdays, wishes, but Miss Marsh had something even better than that to wish the girls.

With the right background, the greatest joy of the day lies in the things to be accomplished for others. A birthday to be really happy must be preceded by such services rendered to others, then it will be indeed a true birthday.

Touching upon the Lenten season, Miss Marsh told the girls there would have been no Lent, ending in Easter, if it had not been for the birthday of the Christ child. Entering upon the Lenten season, the speaker asked each one of them to make ready for Easter, that celebration of Christ's birthday into life eternal.

Miss Marsh said that as the girls of the Y. W. C. A. Business Girls Club went out to find some other girl and bring her into the club, they would find their greatest birthday sort of life lived by her associates of the Y. W. C. A. would want to have in her life that close touch with Christ and God that would result in her being born again.

Miss Marsh closed with the reminder that a life of service brings the deepest birthday happiness, and a sincere "God bless you."

It is always a source of inspiration to the members of the Business and Professional Girls to have Miss Marsh with them.

BIRNWEATER

Birnewater, Feb. 15—The community was shocked by the sudden death of one of its neighbors and friends, Mrs. Embree, and all extend sympathy to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jordan of Brooklyn were visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jordan, over the week-end.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of Birnewater Fire Company are to hold a clam chowder sale in the fire house Friday, February 16. Chowder will be ready by 4 p. m. and will be sold by the quart at a reasonable price. Anyone wishing to take it home is requested to bring a container. They will also serve it by the plate at the fire house.

The cold weather has formed plenty of ice on all the ponds and the young folks are enjoying the winter sport, skating.

Mrs. Millie Fraser and Mrs. F. Jordan called on Mrs. D. Bodley Monday afternoon.

Stanley Jordan and his father, Fred Jordan, called on Mr. and Mrs. Myron Freer Sunday.

Mrs. Floyd Deitz is much better after an attack of grip and all are glad to know she is able to be out again.

Floyd Deitz, who has been suffering with sore throat, is much improved and able to be out.

"What! 98c for Tooth-paste?" (That's What You'd Pay, Madam, If It Weren't for Advertising!)

NEARLY a dollar for a little tube of tooth-paste. $3.25 for a pair of chiffon hose. 50 cents for a gallon of gasoline. And a flat two thousand for a "popular priced" car.

How far could the old family budget stagger under that kind of load? What's more to the point, how many nice things could you afford to buy?

There's one big reason why you don't have to pay such outlandish prices for quality things these days. It's because you—and millions like you all over the country—do your buying through the advertising you read!

And it's because you—and thousands like you here in Kingston who read the Daily Freeman—can afford to be choosy and critical when you shop for values.

For Daily Freeman ads save you money! A merchant can mark this good merchandise at a lower price when his Daily Freeman ad will bring many, many dollar-wise shoppers to his store. Having all these buyers gives him a good return on just a tiny profit per item! And you pay no big "mark-up"

But price isn't everything. You get better quality in advertised goods. They have "acceptance"—they've been tested by thousands of shoppers as careful as yourself. And found worthwhile. They must be good or the merchant wouldn't spend his hard-earned money to advertise them in this newspaper where you can compare them with other offerings every day.

It will pay you many times over to read the ads in the Daily Freeman regularly.

How Advertising LOWERS The Price of What You Buy!

Take Tooth-paste, for instance. Good tooth-paste. It may cost Mr. Manufacturer, Mr. Jobber and Mr. Druggist 30 cents a tube to make and sell it—counting salaries and packaging and transportation, rent and other "overhead" and the interest due on the note at the bank. A fair profit all along the line . . . and then this tooth-paste could be sold for 45c—if everybody knew about it!

Sure . . .

. . . but who does know about it? Just a mere handful of people who have heard of it by "word of mouth." A few hundred maybe. Not enough to pay the manufacturer's rent and his NRA salaries. NOT ENOUGH TO LET HIM STAY IN BUSINESS.

And so . . .

. . . he can do one of two things. Raise the price to nearly a dollar (as in our picture above) while you brush your teeth with plain water. Or raise the price a bare nickel per tube and spend that nickel per tube on advertising—to tell his story to millions—do a volume business at a small profit—and bring you good tooth-paste at 50c or even less.

More Than 1,400 Killed CWA Relief Bill In New York in 1933 Goes to President

Washington, Feb. 15 (AP).—President Roosevelt received the bill granting $500,000 for emergency relief today and conferred with Harry L. Hopkins, Civil Works administrator, on ways to file the Civil Works program to the new appropriation. Hopkins said he was going ahead with the original administration plan to taper off the Civil Works system for a windup in May.

The program calls for a gradual elimination of Civil Works, beginning in the south and moving northward as the season progresses. The bill provides $500,000,000 for the CWA. Some believe that if a part of the 4,000,000 Civil Works employees fail to get private jobs by May 1 the President may continue the program somewhat.

A large percentage of accidents were collisions between railway cars or busses and other vehicles. The transit commission is a division of the Public Service Department with control over New York city transportation lines. Its chairman is William J. Fullen.

The commission said 2,780,394, 595 fares were carried by the transit lines, including busses, in 1933. This was a decrease of about 8 percent from 1932.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 15 (AP).—The stock market again put a foot forward today but, with the feeling that governmental eyes were still upon it, discretion continued to be the watchword.

With the exception of the aircraft, which further reflected the airmail controversy, most groups advanced fractionally to around 2 points. Various specialties found followings. The activity was more pronounced than yesterday. Cotton got up about $1 a bale, grades were steady and silver and rubber were firm. Foreign exchanges were narrow. Bonds moved up moderately.

New highs for the past year or more were reached by shares of Montgomery Ward, American Can and some others with advances of a point or more. The rally regained popularity with Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific and Union Pacific getting up 1 to 2. Gainers of as much included Chrysler, Republic Steel, Western Union, American Sugar Refining, U. S. Smelting, Allied Chemical, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Steel, Continental Can, Loew's, U. S. Smelting, American Smelting, Case and Deere, American Telephone was a bit higher, but the utilities and alcohol generally lagged. United Aircraft and Douglas Aircraft were up fractionally to around a point.

Various statistics were predicted that, according to present indications, February industrial production may score the largest percentage advance over the January level since the war boom of 1915.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, Feb. 15.—The minstrel and entertainment given by the Ladies' Aid in the town hall on Saturday night was well attended and much enjoyed by all. Ticket receipts were about $55. The ladies wish to take this opportunity of thanking all those who contributed to the success of the affair. To C. C. Dunham, O. Aley and William Lafferty for their donation of coal, and also to Mr. Lafferty for his services as janitor; to Mr. and Mrs. Otto Drescher and to the orchestra for their able assistance.

Mrs. Arthur Busch of New York city is a guest of Miss Ethel Goscoe. Mrs. Seymour McCall of Grand Gorge was a guest of Mrs. George Rosa on Saturday.

Mrs. Thomas Black has gone to New York city for an indefinite stay. The regular meeting of the Home Bureau was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Harry Miller. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Osterhout gave the second lesson on "Attractive Meals from Homegrown Foods." Lunch, consisting of the dishes demonstrated, was served at noon, followed in the afternoon by the business meeting. The organization is planning a home-talent play, "Mr. Loring's Ancestry," to be given in the near future.

A mid-week service was held on Wednesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ford with the pastor, the Rev. G. B. Fear, continuing the studies of the "Pilgrim's Progress."

About the Folks

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hines of Newburgh were motored to Albany today and while there are stopping at the Plaza Hotel.

WEST SHOKAN

West Shokan, Feb. 15.—Sweeping winds and a zero night prevailed not against the devoted and prominent group of Olive Bridge Odd Fellows, who journeyed to Newburgh on Tuesday attending the home-coming installation of the district deputy at Highland Lodge. James Bush, a member of the pilgrim's party, is a member of Highland Lodge. A mighty cold ride, but a roasting warm reception was the traveler's comment next day.

Not a largely attended, but a wonderfully cozy and enjoyable one was the Sunday School Valentine affair and birthday party held at the church Wednesday evening. Sponsored by the Sunday school for its members and friends no attempt was made to include the general public. The four members having birthdays in February and listed as guests of honor at the refreshment tables were Hazel Geyer, Lorraine Tweedy, Dorothy and Louise Smith. The birthday table was gaily festooned and held the attention of all eyes with its elaborately prepared and justly delicious birthday cake, studded with four candles. Each of the celebrants were permitted to blow out a candle and each received a pleasing remembrance from the Sunday school. Everyone was then privileged to enjoy a liberal slice of the de luxe example of the cake-maker's art. The menu of refreshments served consisted of sandwiches, baked beans, potato salad, pickles, cocoa and cake. Refreshments were followed by the social program. First there was a Valentine party and exchange of favors. Valentines and candy were given to all. There was keen interest shown in the contest of making the greatest number of words from the word valentine. Helen Thompson won first prize and little Miss Mildred Roe second. There were various games featured with singing and genuine merriment. Surely Valentine's day for the West Shokan Sunday school proved everything good and jolly that the name implies.

Latest report from the Watson Hollow CWA workers is that the diverted of trees and debris from the August flood clear to the head of the hollow. The completed showing what is calculated to prove in case of a next flood a most gratifying and long needed improvement. The workers are now busy clearing away up the bed of the flood littered Malby Hollow stream, and are well on their way toward Moonbush Club. Since the job was cut down from four to two days per week, naturally the advance has been that much impeded in proportion. Commissioner Claude Bell, who is in charge, sees to it that no dilly dalling report emanates from the activities among this group of workers. Ex-commissioner Jordan proved himself a most competent and conscientious town official, and in his steps Commissioner Bell is showing no less noteworthy and commendable qualifications.

CROSS VALUED AT $390,000 STOLEN FROM SPANISH CASTLE

Caravaca, Spain, Feb. 15 (AP).—A jewel of fabulous worth—a gold cross inlaid with diamonds—has disappeared from Caravaca Castle. The cross is valued at $390,000. Police questioned caretakers, but reported no clues. The treasure has been kept at the historic castle since the 13th century.

Local Death Record

Luther Van Demark of North Front street died at the Benedictine Hospital this morning. Friends may view the remains this evening between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock at the Leo V. Grogan Funeral Home, where private funeral services will be held Friday with interment in Montrose cemetery.

Olive Bridge, Feb. 15.—The funeral of Granville Davis, who died Thursday evening after a brief illness, was held at his late home on Monday afternoon. There were many friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last respects to one who was esteemed by all who knew him. The sympathy of the community is extended to his widow.

The funeral of Mrs. Mary E. Dunbar was held from her late home in Rosendale Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Arthur S. Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, conducted the services. Bearers were Ralph H. LeFever, Silas D. Roosa, William Kelly, Alonzo Campfield, Golden and Emory Lewis. Interment was in the Rosendale Plains cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Neff were held Wednesday morning at her late home in Kyserville at 9:15 o'clock and at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale at 10 a. m. a high Mass of requiem being offered by the Rev. Frank M. O'Reilly, pastor. There was a large profusion of flowers and spiritual bouquets in the forms of Mass cards. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery, Newburgh.

New Paltz, Feb. 15.—Funeral services were held Wednesday, February 7, for Nathan Van Kleeck, 72, of Poughkeepsie. Mr. Van Kleeck had been ill for a long time. He was the father of Harold Van Kleeck of New Paltz; he is also survived by his wife and two other sons, George and Bernard of Poughkeepsie, and a brother, William, of New York. Burial was in Poughkeepsie Cemetery.

Fred Deyo, a lifelong resident of New Paltz, died at Memorial Hospital, New York city, in his 67th year. Funeral services will be held from the late residence in New Paltz on Saturday, February 17, at 2 p. m. Interment will be in New Paltz Rural cemetery. He is survived by two brothers, Andrew B. Deyo of New Paltz and Jonathan N. Deyo of Roselle Park, N. J.; also a sister, Mary, at New Paltz.

New Paltz, Feb. 15.—Private funeral services were held Monday afternoon, February 12, for Byron L. More, 82, at his home in Poughkeepsie. Mr. More had lived in Poughkeepsie 60 years and for many years sold carriage supplies. His early life was spent in Margaretville and Kingston. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Mrs. Rosell E. DuBois of New Paltz and Mrs. George H. Gage of Poughkeepsie. Burial was in Margaretville.

The funeral of Mrs. John J. McCord, who died in this city Sunday, was held from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Bonesteel, 115 South Manor avenue, Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Joseph's Church at 9 a. m. where a high Mass of requiem was offered by the Rev. Father Burke. During the services two selections were sung by William R. Burke, and as the body was being borne from the church the children's choir rendered the "Miserere." The services were largely attended and there were many floral tributes. Bearers were James Merritt, Walter Black, Preston Knight, Daniel Garrity, James Volker and John Robins. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery, where final absolution was pronounced at the grave by the Rev. Father Burke.

The funeral of Charles C. Christensen of Hurley, who died Wednesday, February 7, at the Benedictine Hospital after an illness of about three weeks, was held on Saturday, February 10, at 2:30 p. m. from the Allgherville Reformed Church. The Rev. H. W. Noble, pastor of the Lafayette Street Reformed Church of Jersey City, officiated with the assistance of the Rev. Clarence Howard of the Allgherville Reformed Church. In the beautiful services which marked the tribute paid to the deceased by his many friends and relatives, Mrs. Gertrude Deary rendered two solos very beautifully. She sang "Some-thing We Will Understand" and "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere." Mrs. Charlotte Miller, a cousin of the deceased, rendered a solo entitled "Shall We Gather at the River." The great esteem and love in which his many friends and relatives held him was evidenced by the large attend-

Shakeups In Grid Staffs Promise More Warner Back

By ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
New York, Feb. 15 (AP)—The recent ranks of eastern college football staffs, after a notable series of shakeups, now have been substantially filled for 1934, making it possible to judge some of the salient effects.

Perhaps the most noteworthy trend among the major universities is the switch away from the Notre Dame offense and toward the Warner backfield formation. In other words, the backfield pop seems to be yielding to the charge of the wingbacks.

Yale and Navy have discarded the elements of Notre Dame football upon which their play has been based for the past few years. Both will rebuild around the cornerstone of the old punt formation, plus some features of the Warner system.

Warner football also will be taught at Dartmouth by the new staff, headed by Earl (Red) Black, with Harry Ellinger, and Andy Gustafson as chief assistants.

Army, Pittsburgh and Colgate already are well established among the eastern strongholds of Warner system football, in addition to which "Pop" Warner himself has moved his gridiron workshop back east.

Warner will prepare for his second season at Temple University, Philadelphia. The influence of the Big Ten type of play, which has been gaining popularity, will be felt at Glenside, Pa., where the new staff, headed by Lehigh and Penn State, takes over the job at College of New York.

Notre Dame football, however, remains the big influence at Duquesne, where Joe Bach replaces Elmer Ladden as head coach this year. Pupils of the late Knute Rockne also hold sway at Villanova, Holy Cross, and Fordham.

New York University, Princeton and West Virginia, which sent Earl (Greasy) Neale and Denny Myers to Yale as Pond's chief assistants, have yet to complete their 1934 staffs.

Carl Snavely left Bucknell to take the head coaching job at North Carolina State while Howard (Jake) Cann has resigned at N. Y. U., where the emphasis of de-emphasis of football still is the main question.

Army's youthful "outhouse" coach, Lieut. Gar Davidson, yesterday announced completion of his staff, two vacancies in which were created by the departure of Black and Ellinger to Dartmouth. The newcomers, however, are Lieut. Black and Lieut. Edw. Doyle.

Bryan will be Davidson's first assistant this year and Doyle will be his second. Lieut. Bill Wood has been elevated to chief backfield coach, replacing Black, while Lieut. Maurice (Moe) Daly will be chief line coach, succeeding Ellinger. The other aides on a staff of six are Lieut. Laverne (Blondy) Saunders, assistant line coach, and Lieut. Edward (Red) Reeder, assistant backfield coach.

Brucks Take Close Game From Troy's Luckies, 22-20

After a poor showing in the first half, Jack Troy's Luckies put on the steam in the second and gave Pete Bruck's All Stars a hard run at B. W. S. Hall, High Falls, Wednesday night, almost winning the game from them. The Brucks were victorious only by two points, final score of the tilt being 22-20 in their favor.

The win put the Stone Ridge representatives ahead in the series they have scheduled with the Luckies, the next game being slated for Friday night at White Eagle Hall, home court of the Troymen, on Delaware avenue, where a crowd is expected to witness the second clash between these two clubs that have their controls fixed for coasting on to the championship of Ulster county.

In last night's duel, the Stone Ridge were very strong in the first part, outscoring the Luckies 15-9 in the opening half. During the final stages of the battle, the Luckies crept up on their opponents, coming within two points of tying them as the timer's whistle ended the fray.

Featuring the scoring attacks were Bing Van Etten for the Luckies and Herbie Van Deussen for the Ridge.

"Chips" Rhymers, left forward of the Troymen, distinguished himself by holding scoreless Bob Cullum, usually a leading point-maker for the Ridge.

A good idea of what the contrast—or comparison, if you will—in physical specimens will be when Primo Carnera (left) and Tommy Loughran climb into the ring at Miami Beach, February 28, may be gained from study of their training stances and respective measurements as shown above. The experts have been trying to figure out, in advance, just how much cleverer the Philadelphia challenger will have to be to offset the Italian's advantage in bulk.

Jeby Near Limit Quits Training

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—Ben Jeby of New York was so close to the middleweight limit today that he quit training for his ten round non-title bout with Vince Dundee, the middleweight champion, at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night, a day early.

Dundee is not giving Jeby, himself a former holder of the title, a crack at the crown this time out. As Jeby weighed only a half pound over the division limit of 160 pounds after yesterday's workout, and the articles stipulate he must come in over the weight, he decided to do no work today.

Dundee planned another drill today and probably will weigh less than 160 pounds. In the other two ten round bouts, Frank Battaglia of Wisnepex, Minn., will meet Ed Leonard of Mobile, Ill., and Harry Dubinsky of Chicago, tackles Tracy Cox, Indianapolis heavyweight.

Seven-Man Defense Is Lost to Football

Chicago, Feb. 15 (AP)—The day of the seven-man defensive line is over. Clark Shaughnessy, of the University of Chicago, has concluded, after studying the recent changes in the collegiate football rule.

"The rule which permits one player to hold the ball for another to kick it, opens up all sorts of possibilities," Shaughnessy said, "and it means the day of the seven-man line is gone. No team on defense can operate any more without a man in the safety position, because there will always be that threat of a kick."

"I can see where the new kicking formation can be used readily enough as a fake, and from it passes can be thrown. So, too, it will be possible to run from that formation, and the defense will not have much time to make up its mind what kind of a play is coming."

"It looks to me," he concluded, "as though this kicking rule, with the changes in the forward pass rules, will throw the game wide open."

CONFUSED?

So many cigars
So many claims

New cigars . . . old brands reduced in price . . . conflicting claims about quality. No wonder so many smokers today are confused over cigar values!

Here's one fact that should help in solving your cigar problem. More millions of men smoke Bayuk "Phillies" than any other cigar.

Have YOU tried
Bayuk "PHILLIES"

TODAY 5c
Formerly 10c

The amazing success of this fine cigar is convincing proof of what Bayuk guarantees—a 10c cigar value now selling for 5c.

Unless you try Bayuk "Phillies"—you can't possibly tell whether you are getting all the pleasure you should from smoking a cigar. The first Bayuk "Phillies" you smoke should end your confusion over cigar values.

Bayuk's Guarantee

In 1929—a peak sales year—the Bayuk Philadelphia Perfecto (Familiarly known as "Philadelphia Hand-made") was the largest-selling 10-cent brand in America.

Bayuk guarantees that this cigar today—at 5 cents—contains the same fine imported Sumatra wrapper—the same fine ripe Domestic and Havana long-filler. It's the same identical cigar.

Maroon Jayvees Victors

Wednesday night, on its own court in Highland, the basketball varsity of Raymond Riordon Prep easily defeated the varsity of Kingston High leaders of the DUSO League, 44-22.

The prep school team, which is rated with college frosh teams, got off to a fast start, piling up a strong lead in the first period and behind the great scoring of Price and Bertrand, who scored 13 points apiece, kept in front of the locals until the final whistle.

Subs Called Out

The Klansmen, who couldn't seem to click on the elongated, barn-like, down-river court in the first period, came back strong in the second and in two instances trailed the Riordon men by only two points. This was the closest Kingston came to taking the lead throughout the contest. In the third period the locals began to slip and in the final quarter Coach
Kias sent in the varsity subs to relieve the varsity. The first quarter ended 13-5, the half came to a close with a 22-15 score and the third quarter stopped with the score 21-19 with Riordon leading each time.

Zeeh Leads Locals

Captain Johnny Zeeh was the star of the local quintet, sinking the leather sphere through the iron ring for three fields and four fouls to give him 10 markers. Andy Dykes and "Mad Anthony" Debrosky starred in the guard positions.

Jayvees Win

As the prelim to the main tilt, the local Jayvees met the Riordon seconds and easily defeated them 31-23.
Kingston kept the lead throughout with the score standing at 17-8 in Kingston's favor at half time. Ted Fishman and Ed Bock led the winners with 7 and 8 apiece while Schoen was high for the losers with 11 markers.

Ellenville Next

The next game on the varsity schedule is slated for Friday, when Kingston will meet Ellenville High at the Ellenville court in their last DUSO game before the crucial Port
Jervis contest.

Cork-Raising Cannot Be

Get-Rich-Quick Business

One of the most valuable products of nature is cork, for which man has devised a myriad of uses, says Path-finder Magazine. Cork is the outer layer of the bark of an evergreen oak common to southern Europe and northern Africa, but cultivated extensively in Spain and Portugal. The latter country produces more cork than all other countries combined, the annual yield being more than 188,000,000 pounds, harvested from 1,000,000 acres of cork oak trees. The outer layer of bark on the cork oak is formed by annual additions from within the tree, which gradually becomes a soft, thick, homogeneous mass possessing the peculiar compressible and elastic qualities on which its economic value depends.

The first stripping of cork from young trees takes place when they are from fifteen to twenty years old. The yield, called virgin cork, is rough, unequal and woody in texture and is of little commercial value. It is principally used in tanneries and sometimes in the making of rustic furniture for ferneries and conservatories. The bark is removed from the tree every eight or ten years, the quality improving with each stripping. The trees continue to thrive under the operation for 150 years or more. Prime cork cannot be obtained until the tree is at least forty years old so cork-raising can hardly be called a get-rich-quick undertaking.

Broadway in Gay Nineties
Was Unpaved Thoroughfare

Trolley Cars Had Replaced Horse Cars and No One
Had Ever Seen An Automobile—Kingston Point
Park Was In Its Glory and Life Moved at a More Leisurely Pace—Some Buildings Still Stand.

There are still many readers of the Freeman who recall that period from 1895 to 1900, which is now known to history as The Gay Nineties, when trolley cars had replaced horse cars on Broadway and that thoroughfare was unpaved. After every rain storm mud holes would form in the street making it hazardous for passengers alighting from the trolley cars. Those were the days when the motorman was a general soul and would try and halt his car just beyond the nearest mud hole so that passengers, both fair and otherwise, could alight without getting their feet wet or clothing soiled. There was however a rubber stop-pavement laid at the lower end of Broadway. A brick pavement was laid in the early 1900's.

Those were the days when no one had ever seen an automobile and horse dealers and horse shoers plied their trade, and those were the days when a saloon was a saloon and not just a drinking and eating place, and Kingston saloons were famous, many of them, for the free lunches that were stacked up on one end of the bar, and a schooner of beer sold for a nickel.

Back in the gay nineties a good cigar could be had for a nickel. Who recalls the fine nickel cigars turned out at the Powell, Smith and Company factory on central Broadway, which later became the American Cigar Company plant, or the cigars turned out by the many small cigar plants in various parts of the city?

During that period between 1890-1900, Kingston had four mayors, but one of whom is still living, John E. Kraft, who served as mayor from 1890 to 1891, and was succeeded by the late Dr. David Kennedy, who served from 1892-95, and was head of the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, manufacturers of the widely known—at that time—Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy.

From 1896 to 1897, Henry E. Weber, stove dealer and plumber of 56 Broadway, was head of the city government, and was succeeded in 1898 to 1899 by the late William D. Brininger, one of the leading lawyers of the Ulster county bar.

JUNCTION OF HENRY STREET AND BROADWAY IN 1893

Broadway at Henry Street.

Older readers of The Freeman will recall this view of Broadway at Henry street, and many will recall the old watering trough, that in later years was removed. Here at this trough halted the horse-drawn vehicles while the horses quenched their thirst. There was also a spout where the driver could also refresh himself.

But a block or so away further up Broadway George T. Freer was engaged in the business of dealing in horses. Other horse dealers listed in the city directory of 1896 were J. Forst & Company of Abel street; Henry Kelder & Company of Fair street; James Kelder of John street, and S. Vogel & Son of Abel street. And a short distance further on down Broadway from Henry street was the blacksmith shop of William Deegan. Other horse shoers of the nineties were George S. Adams, William J. Anderson, James Herdman, Abram S. Houghtaling, John H. Land, John Kearney & Sons, Herman Lang, Lucas V. K. Miner, Bernard McLaughlin, Patrick O'Reilly, George Orr, Henry Partlan, Thomas Partlan, and Jacob Plough.

Those were the days when the horse block was in front of many of the doors of the houses of the city. These blocks were used to assist passengers to alight from their horse-drawn vehicles, but with the advent of the automobile they disappeared from the city streets.

No Movies Then.

Those were the days before the moving pictures. The two leading theatres were the old Kingston Opera House, which has been remodeled in late years into stores and offices, and the old Liscomb Opera House on lower Broadway, which has been remodeled into the present Orpheum Theatre.

In those days the stock companies
